

FIONA MACRAE

Fiona MacRae was born in Scotland in 1965, trained in Glasgow and Paris, and now lives and works in rural Argyll.

Fiona divides her time between the mainland village of Taynuilt, near Oban, and the remote island of Tiree, the most westerly of the outer Hebrides. Inspired by its isolated beauty and simplicity, her work is infused with a beguiling wit and charm, together with an irresistible freshness.

Her work has been exhibited extensively and is in both private and public collections throughout the UK. She has been exhibiting successfully with CHA for nearly ten years and together they have built a loyal following and demand for her work.
